KEYNOTE SPEAKER

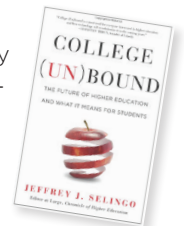

Jeffrey Selingo

Washington Post Editor & Bestselling Author

The demise of the traditional residential college campus is a popular refrain these days. What will the college of the future look like: how will students learn, what role will technology play, and what are the risks and opportunities for incumbent players. Selingo will take participants on a tour of the college of tomorrow showing what a redesigned bachelor's degree might look like, why institutions need to move to "just-in-time" education, not "just one time," and how colleges can prove their value in a crowded marketplace of choices.

ATTEND THE FREE BOOK SIGNING!

Conference attendees receive a complimentary copy of Jeffrey Selingo's bestselling book, College (Un)Bound, or his latest release, There Is Life After College. (While supplies last.) Jeff will be signing books in the exhibit hall from 3:15 - 4:00 PM on June 25.
